> BUSINESSFORWARD

Every time we do business overseas we experience several challenges, which impede our profitability... And as a small company, we are learning how these international processes work on the fly — we do not have the resources to manage most of these issues to the depth of large multinational corporations.

In our experience, it is easier to do business in countries where the United States has trade agreements in place... It is time our trade policies reflect this reality and make it easier for U.S. businesses, particularly small business, to do business internationally.

- JAY STEINMETZ CEO, BARCODING, INC., BALTIMORE, MARYLAND

REPORTS

RESHORING MANUFACTURING IN THE HEARTLAND

EXPORTS AND FOREIGN INVESTMENT

ARE WE WINNING THESE TRADE WARS?

IS AMERICA BETTER OFF GOING IT ALONE?

AMERICAN STEEL INDEX

UNPACKING THE ECONOMIC HARM OF TRUMP'S TARIFFS

THE "TRUMP SLUMP" IN TOURISM

THE BUSINESS FORWARD NETWORK ON

GLOBAL LEADERSHIP& FOREIGN POLICY

WHAT OUR NETWORK IS SAYING:

EMBRACE THE OPPORTUNITY TO WRITE TRADE RULES

More than 95% of the world's consumers live outside the U.S. We need modern trade deals that open up markets and break down barriers.

ENSURE BETTER ENFORCEMENT OF DEALS

Include in deals the necessary teeth to achieve desired results. Small- and medium-sized businesses account for 98% of American exporters: results matter.

EXPAND THE DEFINITION OF AMERICAN INTERESTS AT THE TABLE

Trade supports one in five U.S. jobs. Assess the impact of potential trade agreements on workers and consumers in every state. Prioritize higher wages, better benefits, and opportunities for skill-building.

BUILD RESPECT FOR THE UNITED STATES

Respect for the U.S. fell between 2016 and 2020. China and Russia gained at our expense. We lost hundreds of billions of dollars in foreign investment and exports.

BRIEFINGS

RESHORING IN THE HEARTLAND

NATIONAL INSTITUTE OF STANDARDS AND TECHNOLOGY ON THE BIPARTISAN INNOVATION ACT

SECRETARY RAIMONDO ON THE BUILD BACK BETTER ACT

FOREIGN POLICY BRIEFING WITH JAKE SULLIVAN AND ED MEIER

ARE WE WINNING THESE TRADE WARS?